Texts:

Supplies:

You'll need a file folder to hold your portfolio of responses and analyses. I will be collecting response statements on the days they are due.

Purpose:

An introduction to the scholarly issues, goals, and methods across the disciplinary areas represented in the Rhetoric and Technical Communication program.

Writing Assignments:

Response Journal:

For selected readings indicated on the syllabus, you should submit a response statement of at least 250 words (approximately one double-spaced sheet of paper). The response should demonstrate that you have read the assignment meaningfully and should discuss the assignment in terms of course content and goals.

Portfolio Analysis

Please prepare a portfolio analysis (at least a page long) that provides a commentary on responses, proposal, draft, and final paper. What are some strengths of your performance on these assignments? What are some limitations?

Formal Writing

In an essay of at least 5 pages (approximately 1250 words), provide information to future RTC graduate students about the program or about ways of succeeding in graduate school. References to Moore and Miller and/or Semenza and the RTC Handbook would be helpful. We will aim to collectively produce a document that would supplement the RTC Handbook. Submit a proposal (a paragraph or two in length) for your essay week 7.

Presentations:

You will have an opportunity to present a proposal for the final essay as well as an oral version of the essay. The proposal presentation should be about 5 minutes, and the essay presentation should be 10-15 minutes. Please use at least one visual in the final presentation, and include a paper copy of the visual with each paper.

Attendance:
Attendance is mandatory. Much of the course involves conversation about course readings. If you miss those conversations, you will have missed a good deal of the course content. More than two unexcused absences will affect your grade.

Criteria for Evaluation:

A Papers and Presentations:
The author makes an original contribution so that the reader becomes involved and learns from the piece or presentation. The central point of the essay is clear, and the parts of the essay have been connected effectively. The outline for the presentation is correct in form and effective. Support for the point is appropriate for the intended audience and convincing. There are few if any errors.

B Papers and Presentations:
The writing or speaking is clear, but the contribution does not seem especially original or new. The central point is clear, but the parts of the essay or talk could be connected more effectively. Support for the point is adequate for the intended audience and fairly convincing. The reader’s or listener’s needs have been taken into consideration to an extent. There are some errors.

C Papers and Presentations:
Takes some effort on the part of the reader or listener to get through the essay or talk. The paper or talk does not have a strong focus, and it is not always clear how the parts support the thesis. Support for the point is not especially appropriate for the intended audience and not especially convincing. The reader’s or listener’s needs have not always been taken into consideration. There are a number of errors.
