Texts:

Supplies:
You'll need a file folder to hold your portfolio of responses, drafts, critique sheets, and graded papers. I’ll bring in some used ones if you’d prefer not to buy a new one. I will be collecting response statements on the days they are due. I will collect drafts and critique sheets on the day formal essays are due and graded essays shortly after they are returned. Please have the file folder by Thursday of week one.

Purpose:
The course is described in the catalog as follows:
A consideration of a variety of critical approaches to literature and methods of literary research in the context of literary texts by British and American authors and possibly of film versions of the texts.

Writing Assignments:
Response Journal:
For selected readings indicated on the syllabus, you should submit in-class or out-of-class response statements of at least 125 words. The out-of-class responses should be interpretations of the reading assignments using one of the approaches, or a combination of approaches, discussed in the Lynn text.

Portfolio Analysis
Please prepare a portfolio analysis (at least a page long) that provides a commentary on responses, drafts and critique sheets, and final papers. What are some strengths of your performance on these assignments? What are some limitations?

Formal Writing:
Three formal papers will be required.
The first is a four-page essay (approximately 1,000 words) in which you:
1) analyze The Great Gatsby or Pride and Prejudice from one or more of the critical approaches discussed in Chapters 3-8 of Lynn. Be sure to describe the approach or approaches in detail. In the conclusion of the essay, discuss the advantages or disadvantages of using this approach or these approaches to the novel.

Or

2) describe the critical approach (or approaches) used in one of the critical essays in the Norton Critical Edition of Pride and Prejudice and then evaluate the critical essay. Is the argument convincing? Why or why not?

The second is a four-page essay (approximately 1,000 words) in which you:

1) characterize Nafisi's approach to literature in Reading Lolita in Tehran by discussing her treatment of Gatsby and/or Pride and Prejudice. Make connections between her approach and Lynn's discussion of critical approaches to literature.

Or

The third is a four-page essay (approximately 1,000 words) in which you compare one or more of the poems from Ireland's Love Poems with some other work of literature or film not discussed in class. How is the theme of love similar or different? Which work do you prefer and why?

You will need to submit proposals for and drafts of these essays. The proposal is a brief, tentative description of what you intend to write about in the essay. One paragraph is sufficient, though it could be longer. You are free to change your topic after you have submitted the proposal. The draft should be your best effort rather than a first draft. The feedback you receive on it from a classmate will be more valuable if you think the essay is close to being ready to submit.

Presentations:

You will have an opportunity to present essays # 1, 2, and 3 in four-minute presentations. The presentation should be based on the paper you have submitted but should be tailored for oral delivery. Please use at least one overhead that provides an outline of your paper and a thesis statement. Please include a paper copy of the outline and thesis statement with your paper. Make sure to put a complete heading on the outline including your name, my name, the date, the course number, and the assignment number.

Reports/Discussions:

Once during the term make a five-minute report on background material that informs the reading assignment for that day or start the class discussion for that day's reading. If you prepare a report, be sure to submit an outline of it. If you start the discussion, submit the question or questions that you use to stimulate discussion. The question or questions should invite discussion of all assigned reading for that day including material from Lynn if it has been assigned.

Attendance:

Attendance is mandatory. Much of the course involves conversation about course readings. If you miss those conversations, you will have missed a good deal of the course content. More than three unexcused absences will affect your grade.

Late Papers:
Since the course emphasizes the revision process and since it is important that presentations be based on finished essays, drafts and final essays must be submitted on time. Late papers will affect your grade.

Grades:

Your grade will be based on the following:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Component</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Portfolio (responses, e-mail(s), critiques, outlines/questions)</td>
<td>25%</td>
</tr>

Criteria for Evaluation:

A Papers and Presentations:

The author makes an original contribution so that the reader becomes involved and learns from the piece or presentation.
The central point of the essay is clear, and the parts of the essay have been connected effectively. The outline for the presentation is correct in form and effective.
Support for the point is appropriate for the intended audience and convincing.
The reader's or listener's needs have been taken into consideration.
There are few if any errors.

B Papers and Presentations:

The writing or speaking is clear, but the contribution does not seem especially original or new.
The central point is clear, but the parts of the essay or talk could be connected more effectively.
Support for the point is adequate for the intended audience and fairly convincing.
The reader's or listener's needs have been taken into consideration to an extent.
There are some errors.

C Papers and Presentations:

Takes some effort on the part of the reader or listener to get through the essay or talk.
The paper or talk does not have a strong focus, and it is not always clear how the parts support the thesis.
Support for the point is not especially appropriate for the intended audience and not especially convincing.
The reader's or listener's needs have not always been taken into consideration.
There are a number of errors.

D Papers and Presentations:

The reader or listener cannot figure out what point the writer or speaker is trying to make.
The central point is not at all clear, and the parts do not support it.
Support for the point is inappropriate for the intended audience and not convincing.
The reader's or listener's needs have not been taken into consideration.
There are many errors.

F Papers and Presentations:

The paper or talk does not respond to the assignment at all or has not been handed in or presented.
Other:

When papers are returned, most papers will have a letter grade on them. If you receive a grade lower than A, you may revise the essay and submit it no later than two weeks after it is returned. A few papers, though, will have an "R" on them. This means that the paper must be revised within two weeks of the time the paper was returned, and only the revision will be graded. I will usually suggest that individuals who receive Rs see me before revising. Please include the original paper with the revision!

Remember that formal essays should have titles. Please leave at least an inch margin on the sides and top and bottom of the paper and remember to number the pages on papers. Label all work including presentation outlines. Include your name, my name, the course number and time, the date, and the course assignment. Be sure to indicate if the paper is a draft, a formal paper, or a revision. Please do NOT submit drafts and formal essays electronically.
