Course Description

As the title of the course suggests, we will be studying how oral, written, and visual communication work alone and together to create purposeful effects for different audiences in different contexts. We will be discussing communication and how your worldview affects both your outgoing and incoming communication. The idea is that by looking at ways your culture (and your audience’s cultures) shapes communication, you will become better at crafting your ideas into effective communication. Of course you already know how to communicate, but by analyzing and practicing what you do, you will be even more effective. In this class, you will do a lot of writing. The class will be using the text: Reading Cultures. It has a cultural focus, as well as interesting readings. We will also be using The Non-Designer’s Design Book, to help understand visual communication. I don’t believe in grammar drills, but I do believe in an inexpensive and brief overview, and Strunk and White’s The Elements of Style can provide that for you. It is my hope that these texts, as well as the in-class discussions and projects, will provide you with some vital information that will benefit you in your academic, professional and personal lives.

Goals

During this Revisions course, you are expected to...

• understand and experience the composing process in written, visual, and oral communication.
• acquire extensive practice in revising written, visual, and oral communication.
• learn how to enhance/complement your writing with visual and oral forms of communication.
• experience a range of written, visual, and oral genres and understand how a writer’s purpose and sense of audience shape these genres.
• experience both the personal and social/collaborative dimensions of learning and communicating.
• acquire practice in rhetorical analysis and critical reasoning.
• learn how to conduct, communicate, and document research for a substantial piece of argumentative writing.

Attendance Policy

You are expected to attend every scheduled class. I allow two (2) absences per semester per student; subsequent absences will lower your grade 50 points for each absence after two. Excused absences will be dealt with on a case-by-case basis. This policy is in effect because, as this is a course on communication, you will need to be present to participate in the learning process, and to pick up the nuances of terminology, the applications for the coursework and class discussion. Because arriving late disrupts the class, two (2) tardies will add up to one full absence. If I have to stop class when you enter, or back up in any way to include you in the conversation, it will be counted as a tardy.
The Fine Print...

A Note About Assignment Structures
Several of your assignments in this course require you to work through multiple drafts, steps and revisions. I will only accept work that develops out of these processes. In other words, don't throw me a curve ball; you may not change your subject or your scope late in the game.

Other Important Stuff
First, I have an electronics policy of which you really need to be aware. I do not permit the use of cell phones in my class - ditto for Blackberries, pagers, iPods, TVs, PSPs, laptops or any other electronics you may possess that I haven't even heard of yet. If an electronic item beeps, buzzes, whirs, sings, or chirps, you will be marked absent for the day; I will assume you were paying attention to it, as opposed to the class. If you have an emergency, and your electronic device HAS to be on, please talk to me before class begins. This rule is to make it easier for all of us to communicate in the classroom.

MTU's Policy on Academic Integrity
Plagiarism and cheating are serious academic offenses. They are defined by this policy as: "knowingly copying another's work or ideas and calling them one's own or not giving proper credit or citation," and this policy covers copying sections or entire papers from printed or electronic sources, as well as handing in papers written by students for other classes or purchasing academic papers. Plagiarism and cheating not only are dishonest but also cheat you out of learning, the prime reason you are here. If you ever have questions about this issue, please talk with me or consult a coach in the Writing Center (7-2007). For more information go to: http://www.studentaffairs.mtu.edu/dean/judicial/policies/academic_integrity.html

MTU's Policy on Discrimination and Harassment
Michigan Tech complies with all federal and state laws and regulations regarding discrimination, including the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. If you have a disability and need a reasonable accommodation for equal access to education or services at Michigan Tech, please call the Dean of Students Office, at 487-2212. For other concerns about discrimination, you may contact your advisor, department head or the Affirmative Action Office, at 487-3310.

Safe Place
Safe Place's Mission Statement is: "The GLBT Safe Place Program strives to reduce homophobia and heterosexism on Michigan Tech's campus. Through education, advocacy, and awareness, the program contributes to an open campus climate that is safe and accepting to all members of the University community" (from www.safeplace.mtu.edu). I am a proud member of Safe Place.
