Texts:

Supplies:
Please keep your response statements and returned papers in a file folder. I’ll collect it at the end of the term.

Purpose:
The course is described in the catalog as follows:
This course considers key theoretical, pedagogical, and historical issues and events that have linked the fields of rhetoric, composition, and literacy studies.

Writing Assignments:

Response Statements:
Response statements of one or two double-spaced pages should be turned in on designated days. Statements should summarize the text under consideration and then critique it or relate it to previous course readings or reading you have done elsewhere.

Portfolio Analysis
Please prepare a portfolio analysis (at least a page long) that provides a commentary on response statements, drafts, and the three formal writing assignments. What are some strengths of your performance on these assignments? What are some limitations? What positions that you have taken strike you now as especially insightful? What positions do you now think are questionable?
Formal Writing:

Three formal papers will be required. The first two should be at least 1,250 words long and the final one should be at least 3,750 words long.

Paper #1: Proposal
Prepare a proposal for your formal essay.

Paper #2: Literature Review
Prepare a literature review for your research project. Identify books, articles, websites, etc. that will be pertinent to your project and explain what these works will contribute to your argument. You should include articles from at least three major journals in rhetoric, composition, or literacy or one major journal in each of the three fields.

Paper #3: Research Paper
Discuss a concept that is significant in rhetoric, composition, or literacy or in all three fields and explain how it has been used and why it is significant. You might consider its genealogy and the uses to which it has been put in the field or fields. You might also attempt to predict ways in it will become increasingly or decreasingly significant in the future.

Presentations:

You will have an opportunity to present assignments #1, 2, and 3 in presentations of at least ten minutes. The presentation should be based on the assignment you have submitted but should be tailored for oral delivery. Please use at least one visual that provides an outline of the assignment you submitted. Please include a paper copy of the outline with your paper.

Attendance:

Attendance is mandatory. Much of the course involves conversation about course readings. If you miss those conversations, you will have missed a good deal of the course content. More than four unexcused absences will affect your grade.

Late Papers:

Since the course emphasizes the revision process and since it is important that presentations be based on finished essays, drafts and final essays must be submitted on time. Late papers will affect your grade.

Grades:

Your grade will be based on the following:

Response statements, portfolio 25 %
Presentation #1 5 %
Presentation #2 5 %
Presentation #3 5 %
Proposal 10 %
Literature Review 10 %
Research paper 40 %

Criteria for Evaluation:

A Papers and Presentations:
The author makes an original contribution so that the reader becomes involved and learns from the piece or presentation.
The central point of the essay is clear, and the parts of the essay have been connected effectively. The outline for the presentation is correct in form and effective.
Support for the point is appropriate for the intended audience and convincing.
The reader's or listener's needs have been taken into consideration.
There are few if any errors.

B Papers and Presentations:
The writing or speaking is clear, but the contribution does not seem especially original or new.
The central point is clear, but the parts of the essay or talk could be connected more effectively.
Support for the point is adequate for the intended audience and fairly convincing.
The reader's or listener's needs have been taken into consideration to an extent.
There are some errors.

C Papers and Presentations:
Takes some effort on the part of the reader or listener to get through the essay or talk.
The paper or talk does not have a strong focus, and it is not always clear how the parts support the thesis.
Support for the point is not especially appropriate for the intended audience and not especially convincing.
The reader's or listener's needs have not always been taken into consideration.
There are a number of errors.

Other:

When papers are returned, most papers will have a letter grade on them. If you receive a grade lower than A, you may revise the essay and submit it no later than two weeks after it is returned. A few papers, though, will have an “R” on them. This means that the paper must be revised within two weeks of the time the paper was returned, and only the revision will be graded. I will usually suggest that individuals who receive Rs see me before revising. Please include the original paper with the revision! Please use Modern Language Association (MLA) format in your essays where appropriate. A useful Website that describes MLA format is http://www.wisc.edu/writing/Handbook/DocMLA.html.

Remember that formal essays should have titles. Please leave at least an inch margin on the sides and top and bottom of the paper and remember to number the pages on papers. Label all work. Include your name, my name, the course number and time, the date, and the course assignment. Be sure to indicate if the assignment is the proposal, literature review, or final paper.

MTU complies with all federal and state laws and regulations regarding discrimination, including the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA). If you have a disability and need a reasonable accommodation for equal access to education or services at MTU, please call Dr. Gloria Melton, Dean of Students (7-2212).
